Thanks all for the very useful materials. I hope this week's Anaconda meetings will go well. When I'm back Thursday afternoon, I'll send any update from my meetings with NDEP and the Congressional staff.

One follow-up question: regarding Rio Tinto, when did we certify the remedy as complete? What were the costs (in general)?

Amy and Alexis:

Here are the Nevada remedial site summaries for Anaconda, Carson River, and Rio Tinto. For Anaconda, we also attach NDEP's deferral evaluation schedules which you can provide to the Congressional staff. It's detailed but provides a good visual of the many "moving parts" for the deferral process. We also attach the internal update document you received in preparation for the RTOC meeting. It includes additional background information.

Let me know if you need more information. Is your meeting with Brad and Greg before your meeting with Congressional staff? Greg may raise a concern to you about BLM and the pace of their review of all the components involved in the deferral process. I expect there will be side bar discussions in Yerington this week with BLM to address this issue.
